OUTDOOR RECREATIONAL AREAS

Rudolf Bennitt Wildlife Area

Location: 7 miles west of Clark on Route B, then 11/2 miles south on a gravel road.
Managed by the Missouri Department of Conservation.

Rudolf Bennitt Wildlife Area consists of 3,500 acres of gently rolling, forested terrain. Evidence of long-ago Native American habitation remains in certain parts of this rugged area, which also provides excellent hunting, hiking, fishing and camping. An 18-mile circular hiking trail, the Moniteau Wilderness Trail, has been constructed in the area by the Boy Scouts of Moberly. Part of the trail passes over the site of a boyhood home of General Omar N. Bradley.

Sugar Creek Lake

Location: two miles north of Moberly
Major source of city's water supply

Fishing, hunting, trapping, light motor boating (under 10hp), sail boating, picnicking, and camping are allowed. Fishing deck is available for use by elderly and handicapped persons. Permits must be purchased from the lake ranger or at Moberly City Hall for hunting, fishing or boating. Moberly City Council has the right to amend or revoke fishing, boating, or hunting regulations at any time.

Thomas Hill Wildlife Area

Location: 23 miles northwest of Moberly. Blacktop T, Excello, 660-785-2420 or 660-385-2811

Developed in 1965 by the Associated Electric Cooperative of Springfield to supply water for the Cooperative's steam generating plant. Made available for public use under management of the Missouri Department of Conservation. Year-round fishing is part of the appeal of this 5,000-acre lake. Warm water released from the power plant heats up winter fishing for the lake's fish. Summer months bring boaters and swimmers to the lake. Camping, RV sites and marinas are available at several locations on the lake. The lake area is surrounded by approximately 6,000 acres of upland in Randolph and Macon counties.

Other Recreation Areas

Two other recreation areas close to Randolph County are Long Branch Lake in Macon County and Clarence Cannon Dam in Monroe County. The Lake of the Ozarks, one of the largest man-made lakes in the United States and site of an extensive recreation area, is located approximately 80 miles south of Randolph County.
